Bank Guarantees
Nordea Trade Finance

Trading partners rely on building trust. But few business leaders can afford to rely solely on trust when money is at stake. Bank guarantees provide trading partners with protections that cover virtually every phase of the transaction between buyer and seller. Guarantees are used as a security to ensure that compensation is paid when the situation warrants it.

Benefits to the seller:
• Improved competitiveness – reliable counterparty
• Enhanced cash flow
• More flexibility in cash outlay compared to cash deposit
• Proof of creditworthiness
• Able to negotiate better terms with counterparties

Benefits to the buyer:
• Ensure due compensation if contract is breached
• Improved security
• Proves creditworthiness of the counterparty
• Increased trust between parties involved in a sale or a project
• Encourages proper and timely performance of the contract

What should you take into consideration when using bank guarantees in export trade?
• Expiry of the guarantee – it’s recommended that the guarantee has a fixed expiry date
• Maximum guarantee amount – to limit guaranteed obligation
• Transferability of the guarantee – Risk of an unknown counterparty
• Expenses – agree who’s paying expenses – In case of indirect guarantees the cost of the guarantee issuance can rise quickly
