The charging of item fees mentioned in this document are connected to transactions related to the respective account held at Nordea and generally takes place monthly unless otherwise stated or agreed (except for commercial payments in Denmark which are charged on a single payment basis). The charges are debited from your account in the local currency. Nordea reserves the right to charge your account for charges related to payments on which such account is not used. Should you consider concentrating your business with Nordea in more than one of the Nordic markets and currencies, please contact Transaction Banking for Banks to receive information about our favorable pan-Nordic terms.

Base interest rates

Denmark	The reference rates on your DKK account are N-bid for credit interest and N-bor for debit interest. The rates are Nordea Denmark's official day-to-day rates, calculated on actual number of days over 360. You will have to rely on direct contact with Nordea Denmark, for quotations on N-bid and N-bor.
Norway	The reference rate on your NOK account is NIBOR. The rate is the Norwegian Interbank Offered Rate fixed daily, which is calculated on actual number of days over 360. For quotations of NIBOR 1 Week, please visit: https://nore-benchmarks.com/about-nibor/nibor-data/ Please note that NIBOR data is available through subscription.
Sweden	The reference rate on your SEK account is STIBOR 1 week. The rate is the average interbank lending rate in Sweden fixed daily and calculated on actual number of days over 360. For daily quotations of STIBOR, please see Reuters page SIOR.
Negative interest rate	Nordea applies negative interest rate depending on market interest rate in each country in the Nordics.
